

Double promotion at Siemens

Leading traffic technology company Siemens has promoted two members of staff to key positions this month. Martin Andrews has been appointed Head of Consultancy Services and Lorraine Hart as Regional Sales Manager for the South East Region.

Martin Andrews joined the company's Consultancy Services in 2004 as a graduate engineer. He has been directly involved in the design and delivery of a wide range of projects including TfL's iBus project. For the past two years, Martin has managed the Central Region area for Consultancy Services overseeing projects completed in the Midlands, North England and Wales.

Lorraine Hart joined the company in 1997. As Product Tendering Manager since 2001, Lorraine has developed close relationships with customers. In particular, she has bid managed numerous LED traffic signal retrofit opportunities which have been instrumental in the growth of the company's core business.

Based at the company's Head Office in Poole, Lorraine hopes to build on a strong foundation of product knowledge and customer relationships in her new role. 'Despite the current challenging times, I am confident that Siemens can provide best value and sustainable options, ensuring the needs of our customers are fulfilled', she said.
